

Online access to E-Media

University of Applied Sciences Aschaffenburg provides many online resources (subject-specific databases, e-books etc.) that require paid licensing. As university member, you have free access to licensed material once you sign in securely as described below.

Please consider our Terms of Use for E-Resources.

Automatic login on campus

When using campus computers or computers logged on to Wi-Fi eduroam you are automatically connected to licensed resources via IP check. In some cases you may also use your password to connect to the service via Shibboleth.

Using online resources off campus

If you are not on campus and are not connected to the university network directly, you can still access many of the resources via VPN and/or Shibboleth.

Database-Infosystem provides information about accessibility for various resources:

Secured sign in options

1. Use VPN: A VPN (Virtual Private Network) connection allows you to access e-media resources from off-campus. The IT Support Centre website shows information about how to install and use a VPN (Intranet – Rechenzentrum).
2. Use Shibboleth: Several databases and publishers provide access using Shibboleth. That means you can use your university login on the providers' websites to get access to e-books and other material. In the Database-Infosystem, you will find PDF-files with step-by-step instructions on how to use the Shibboleth login for specific databases.
